About this FAQ

Welcome!

The purpose of this Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) area is to help you to learn all about ZCell.

Please note: This FAQ section is quite technical - the main audience for it is for ZCell installation partners and for technically curious end-users. For most people interested in having a ZCell based energy solution in their home or business, the best path is to just contact one of our installation partners directly.

Feel free to explore the various categories here and if you can't find the answer to your question and you'd like us to look into it, please contact us.

Your questions will help us to keep adding more useful answers here.
